MEN WHO HELPED MAKE PORTSMOUTH

Brief Sketches of Their Lives, Which Should Be An Inspiration to All; Opportunities In Portsmouth for the Hard-working, Conscientious Young Man Just As Good As Anywhere Else In The World

Entering the motion picture business in the days of the old "nickelodeon", George L. Law has watched the development of pictures for 18 years, and believes thoroughly in the future of the industry in which he is engaged. "I've been in this business long enough to watch a generation of movie enthusiasts grow up, and I believe the motion pictures have been a wholesome influence in their lives," says Mr. Law. "I have seen those youngsters grow up into useful citizens, and I believe their lives have been made broader because they have seen, on the screen, many phases of the world as it exists today. I believe that the time is coming when public opinion will say that the movies do not desecrate the Sabbath, but make it more valuable as a day of rest. I believe the churches would profit if the motion picture houses in Portsmouth were open on Sunday, as it would keep many hundreds of people in town, who now spend their Sundays elsewhere."

George Lincoln Law was born in Bridgeton, New Jersey, March 25, 1865, and received his elementary education there. As a young man he secured a position in Philadelphia, and while living there was married to Miss Barbara Snyder. They have one daughter, Julia. Following his marriage Mr. Law moved to Columbus, and later to Lancaster, Ohio, where he engaged in the grocery business. With the advent of the motion picture he went into that business in Lancaster, and after operating a motion picture house there for nearly six years, came

FUNDS PAID TO KEEP THE LIQUOR CASES OUT OF COURT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the United Press)—Doling into transactions regarding withdrawal of liquor, the Daugherty investigating committee heard from William Orr, a story of large payments to Howard Manning, described as a close friend of Daugherty.

These payments were in connection with liquor deals but he did not know what became of the money, except it was to keep the cases out of court, Orr said.

From Fight Pictures To Whiskey Deals To Lotteries
WASHINGTON, March 18.—The tangled trail of the senate committee's investigation of Attorney General Daugherty and the Department of Justice swung back and forth today between the now famous fight picture "deal" to "deals" in whiskey cases. Then made a brief detour into the fields of lotteries and what the department has done or has not done to suppress them.

Will H. Orr, former private secretary to Ex-Governor Whitman of New York, was the principal witness. Orr was a reluctant, blithering witness who protested against the committee going outside the scope of the inquiry to develop that he had once been indicted on a conspiracy charge in connection with violations of the prohibition law.

Orr previously has been identified at testimony as one of those engaged in the "deal" to arrange showing of the Carpenter-Dempsey fight films without extensive prosecution while various "goats" were fined small sums by pre-arrangement.

Although Orr testified that he was to receive one fifth of the fund involved, he failed under cross examination to satisfy Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor what he did to win the payments, although he did testify that he helped get past the censors.

Much of Orr's testimony centered around liquor withdrawals. Senator Wheeler tried to develop that one Howard Manning, who occupied a dock in the "little green house on K street," had received large sums of money in connection with liquor cases and had been obliged to give it back because his efforts in behalf of clients were not successful. Orr could think of collections aggregating some $6,000 which he persisted were in the nature of retainers, but he disclaimed any knowledge of less Smith, the attorney general's "bunker and friend," being obliged to return money.

Orr Said He Received Money
Specifically Orr testified that he himself received money from "five, six or seven" wholesale drug companies in connection with liquor withdrawals and that among them were the Central Drug Company, the Emerald Drug Company and the Alps Drug Company.

In some cases the plan was to have the liquor released ostensibly for export.

Mrs. Mollie Netter Newbury, owner and directing chief of a Chicago store, has just increased her insurance to $3,000,000. Twenty-two companies underwrote the new $1,500,000 policy she took out the other day.

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—John Vatoski, a paroled convict, has confessed that he murdered Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalley, and Mrs. George Morse at Linden last week, the police here said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Whalley were shot in their home and Mrs. Morse, a grocer's wife, who was visiting on the Whalleys', was beaten to death with an axe handle. The bodies were covered with oil soaked rags and set on fire.

Diamond Thieves Placed Under Arrest

Onion Skin Hosiery and Apple Leaf Green Shoes

BERLIN, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Bright colors are to predominate in women's footwear this spring. Apple leaf green is a new shade for street shoes, while cerise and purple also promise to be popular.

PARIS, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Spring styles show a certain tendency to shorten the skirts in some cases to as much as eighteen inches from the floor. Generally, however, the garments fall to a point four or five inches above the ankles.

It is the belief among designers that American women prefer shorter skirts and the American buyers have been kept busy warding off the attacks of both the anti and pro-short skirt forces, which have waged bitter warfare since the new styles came out.

Most of the models being taken back by American buyers are a sort of compromise, ten to twelve inches from the floor.

First Aid Lessons Saved Girl

MARION, O., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—First aid lessons taught in school here probably saved the life of Jean Miller, four. When the girl's clothing became ignited by a fire under a heater in the bath room of her home yesterday, she ran screaming into the room of her brother, Wayne Wilfred Miller, 12.

Taught in school what to do when persons caught fire, the boy wrapped a woolen blanket around his little sister, and rolled her on the floor. The flames were extinguished before the girl was seriously burned.

The reduction has been made possible by increased production due to wider use of insulin among physicians in their practice.

Rail Labor Board Declared Failure

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The Railroad Labor Board was declared to be a failure and was ordered to be dissolved by the U. S. Supreme Court today. The board, created by the Railway Labor Act, had been set up to settle disputes between the railroad industry and its employees.

The bill, which is sponsored by railroad labor organizations, proposes settlement of railroad labor disputes by conference between self-chosen representatives of railroad managements and employees with further recourse to mediation and arbitration.

Mr. Robertson, who also is chairman of a legislative subcommittee of the railroad labor organization, declared the activities of the railroad labor board had brought about an "era of industrial discord after thirty years of peace." Long delays in settlement of disputes have created dissatisfaction among employees, he said, and the "uselessness" of the board has been shown by the "increasing number of violations by the railroads of its decisions."

UNDERGOES 59 BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS

NEW YORK, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Thomas Kane, who recently underwent in Mount Sinai Hospital, what he said was his 59th blood transfusion, today asserted he was able to produce a pint of blood a week by eating 18 to 24 raw onions a day. ### Penn's Statue To Fight Bandit

PHILADELPHIA, PA., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—William Penn's statue on top of the city hall tower, is to be drafted by General Butler, director of public safety, in his war on bandits. The director announced today for search lights would be mounted on Penn's broad brimmed hat, facing the principal points of the compass. The search lights will be controlled from the telephone switchboard in police headquarters. When news of a holdup in the northern section of the city for instance, is received, the light of the search light will turn patrolmen in that quarter to be on the watch.

NOTED ORGANIST DEAD

LONDON, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Sir Frederick Bridge, noted organist, is dead, aged 79. He had been professor of music in London University since 1902, and was for many years the organist of Westminster Abbey.

SLEMP AND DAUGHERTY BOTH MADE BIG SUMS

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The president's secretary, the attorney general, two senators and four congressmen speculated in Sinclair and Doheny oil stock before and after the government signed over its naval reserve to those big interests.

This was the revelation made before the teapot dome committee by Lewis Bond, accounting expert who completed a month's examination of the brokers' books and submitted his report today when the investigation was resumed.

C. Bascom Slomp, Secretary to President Coolidge and Attorney General Hurry M. Daugherty head the list.

Both of them had their accounts turned over to other names shortly after the Doheny and Sinclair stocks were purchased.

Congressmen Traded In Stocks

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Resuming hearings after a four-day recess the senate oil committee today received the report of the expert accountants who have examined brokerage books in a search for possible speculation in oil stocks by government officials.

Louis F. Bond, who has examined the records of a number of brokers' offices, was the first witness. He is an accountant attached to the Federal Trade Commission.

Before his examination began, the committee reverted for a moment to the Marine expedition into the Teapot Dome reserve to clear off trespassers, after the Dome had been leased to Harry F. Sinclair. Chairman Ladd read a letter from Major General LeJune, commandant of the Marine Corps, saying the expedition cost $1,005.

Attorney General Daugherty, Senators Curtis, of Kansas, and Ekins, of West Virginia, and C. Bascom Slomp, now secretary to President Coolidge, were among the public officials who had transactions in Sinclair or Doheny oil stocks around the time of the leases of the naval oil reserves.

Slomp at the time was a member of the house. Other representatives dealing in the stocks included A. R. Rouse, of Kentucky; Wells Goudkroft, of West Virginia; and Thomas J. Ryan, of New York, and J. H. Himes, of Ohio.

The names were disclosed before the senate oil committee today when it called to the stand Louis F. Bond, a trade commission accountant who has examined the books of a number of brokerage houses.

Daugherty Bought Doheny Stock

Attorney General Daugherty bought 100 shares of Pan-American (the Doheny Company) that leased the California reserve) and sold at a profit of $545.50, the accountant said. Mr. Daugherty has disclosed previously that he had some dealings in Sinclair stock both before and after he entered the cabinet.

The attorney general's account with W. B. Hithis, and Company, of Washington, was opened in November, 1921, Bond said, in his own name and subsequently changed to the name of W. W. Spaid, a member of Hithis and Company.

On October 9, 1922, the attorney general sold 500 shares of Sinclair Consolidated and on October 27, he purchased an equal amount of the same stock, Bond said.

Price McKinney, of Cleveland, testified before the oil committee that Albert R. Fall, had written him late in 1922 asking him to agree to say he had loaned Fall $100,000.

McKinney said he declined to do so, because he had not any loan to the former interior secretary. McKinney said he did not reply to Fall's letter making the request and C.

READY FOR SECOND LAP OF ROUND WORLD FLIGHT

SACRAMENTO, CALIF., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Assured by the weather forecasters that flying conditions would be ideal today, the army round-the-world pilots prepared to take off on the second lap with Vancouver Barracks, Washington, as their goal.

"We have prepared a schedule of five and one-half months for the trip, but I am telling the people that we will be back on American soil in four and one-half months," Major Frederick L. Martin told the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce at a dinner last night for the aviators. "The purpose of the flight is first, to illustrate to other nations that it can be done; second to demonstrate the possibilities of aerial navigation, and third, to gather climatic statistics so that in the future commercial aerial navigation transportation and lines of communication may be established."

"I know the route we are taking now will of course, not be the more practicable air line for commercial aircraft of the future. It is a step in the advancement of such transportation however, and in many ways to come you and I, all of us, will think nothing of going abroad by airplane."

GOVERNMENT TRAVELERS

CALIF., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson, engineering officer of the army round-the-world flight which started here yesterday, was expected to arrive here today from Rockwell Field, San Diego, en-route to join his fellow pilots of the globe tour in world cruiser number four, which was unable to take off with the other three biplanes of the squadron yesterday because of delayed delivery.

CONGRESSMAN GOES ON TRIAL ON SERIOUS CHARGES

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Representative Harold Knutson, of Minnesota, and Leroy M. Hull, a twenty-nine-year-old government employee had a preliminary hearing today at Arlington, Virginia, on grave charges preferred against them by officers who arrested them March 9, on a Virginia road just outside of Washington.

Knutson appeared in the court room accompanied by counsel and by Representatives Newton and Larson, of Minnesota. He had entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned a week ago and in a public statement had declared that he was the victim of a "terrible mistake" and was wholly innocent of the charges against him.

John Wise, one of the officers who made the arrests, was called as the first witness. He testified he and another Arlington county traffic policeman named Burke, came upon Knutson and Hull in an automobile parked about 150 feet from the road.

150 feet from the road and that Knutson, offered them his automobile as collateral until he could go to Washington and obtain $100. Wise said he told him "there was nothing doing" and that he would have to submit to arrest.

Arriving at the jail, Wise testified, Knutson made further offers to "settle out of court," even tendering a blank check and telling the officer "to name the amount."

(Copyright, 1924)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The departure of Charles E. Warren, newly-named American Ambassador to Mexico, for his post next Thursday, after conferences, which began today with President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes, will mark the beginning of an important era in the relations between the United States and Mexico.

In some respects the months that lie immediately ahead are more vital to the future of Mexico than any period since the fall of Diaz in 1911. The presidential elections will be held on July 1 to choose a successor to President Obregon who, under the constitution, is ineligible for re-election. The issue that the Obregon administration

Greenup Co. Man Shot; Arrest Made

GREENUP, Ky., March 18.—(Special to the Times)—Trouble that has been brewing for sometime at Buffalo, Ga., near East, four miles back of this place, culminated last night in the shooting of R. C. Crawford, also known as "Uncle Dick" (Crawford, farmer and preacher who is about 75 years of age, Sheriff Callahan and deputy Tinsley arrived home at noon with a man giving the name of John Lyons in custody. He is held in connection with the shooting and will be given an examining trial late today.

Crawford was brought here at noon and then removed to the General hospital at Ashland for treatment.

According to Crawford, residents in this community are engaged in violating provisions of the prohibition laws and do not have any use for him as he is a preacher. He claims that men and boys have spent several nights in setting off a number of blasts of powder on a near by hill in an effort to scare him away.

Last night about nine o'clock several men gathered in his yard and rocked his house. Crawford says he went outside and asked the men to behave and then returned into the house. He claims they also fired guns in the air and that when he stepped outside a second time to plead with them to go away someone fired a shotgun, most of the load striking him in the lower chest, arm, hand, and leg. Drs. H. T. Morris of this place and W. T. Flanagan of Ashland were called to attend him and remained with him throughout the night. The wounds in the lower chest are considered dangerous.

Sheriff Callahan and deputy went to the scene last night and spent the entire night investigating the shooting. Early this morning they arrested Lyons at his home.

Crawford's wife, a daughter, Irene, and a grandchild were at the Crawford home at the time of the shooting. Two sons, William and James, live in and near Fullerton. Another son, Hann Crawford, is a barber at Middleton.

The move of Central church to Sunnyside will give the Hilltop a Presbyterian church and will give the church a fertile field in which to work.

The Central church organization has been making big strides forward the past two years. Gifts of the members showing a decided increase in benevolences. A manse has been purchased and now the site for the new church. An effort is being made to sell the present church property at Seventh and Chillicothe streets.

FARMERS PLANTING NORMAL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The general agricultural outlook for 1924 indicates that farmers are undertaking a normal production program, the department of agriculture announced today.

Agricultural production this year, the department said, will still be attended by the difficulties arising from high wages, and other costs, loss of farm workers and the general disparity between prices of farm and urban products.

The wheat situation was described as showing some tendency toward improvement with the market continuing somewhat favorable for producers of spring wheat winter wheat. Spring wheat growers report intentions to reduce their acreage 14 per cent below last spring planting.

Notwithstanding that there will apparently be fewer animals in the country to be fed next winter, corn growers report intentions to increase the acreage 3.2 per cent and in the corn belt proper to increase 2.5 per cent.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

Bigelow Revival

How would you live if you had but twenty-four hours of life left? This was the question Rev. Bright submitted to a splendid Monday night audience. When viewed in the light of his many implications the question becomes a very serious one. If I had but one day of life left I would want to have Jesus Christ in my heart every minute of that day, to guide my thoughts, my deeds and my words. I should seek to hear toward my fellows the most kindly relation possible. I should strive to be utterly unselfish and not think of my own but others' good. I would seriously try to avoid the waste of time. I would try to manifest the fine art of appreciation for all benefits received and would sing glad doxologies for the so-called commonplace blessings of life. I would read one book and in that one book would begin with the 14th chapter of John and would follow this with the 17th chapter. I would tune my soul to the melody of the 23rd Psalm and would climb the hills of beautiful vision in the 121st Psalm. I would make the entire 24 hours serenely prayerful and would like to close the day on my knees.

Mr. Lynn sang with fine expression Mr. Gabriels "The Trysting Place." Rev. Bright will speak this evening at 7 o'clock on the theme: "My Arrest." A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Staff Chaplain William Scott will conduct services at 7:15 o'clock this evening and every night this week at the Salvation Army hall, Eleventh

Jay Walking Is Banned

At a meeting of Boy Scouts today in the traffic squad of the A. B. C. drive, in the municipal court room, Fire Chief Robert Leedom, Traffic Officer Luther J. Frost, Davis and Scout Executive, L. T. Henderson, instructed the boys how to handle traffic during the drive. They were given lessons in directing traffic under all conditions and were cautioned to be courteous to the motorists and pedestrians at all times. They were ordered to stop all jay walking and given orders to report any person not obeying them to the police headquarters. These boys are given police power and will assist the officers in handling parking problems.

For a short time during the noon hour the boys directed traffic at the intersections of Second and Chillicothe streets under the supervision of the traffic officers and their leaders. They were quick to grasp the situation and to learn the "ropes" and it is already evident they will handle traffic at the busy intersections with ease and skill.

A prize was offered the scout on the squad offering the best suggestion of how to handle the traffic at the intersection of Front and Chillicothe street. The suggestions must be handed in before next Saturday and judges will pick out the winner.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weakness of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so-called "one-als" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the female system.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Colonel Holmes, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, his native land, when war with Holland is declared. His Grace of Buckingham takes him to the address, Sylvia Paragon, where it is dark when the Colonel carries her to the house Buckingham has rented.
Upon their arrival Holmes is horrified to see that Sylvia is an old sweetheart.
The servants of the Duke render the Colonel unconscious. When Buckingham attempts to embrace Sylvia, her dress falls from her throat, revealing a purple blotch, token of the plague.
The Duke and his servants flee. Holmes nurses Sylvia and saves her life. Then Holmes disappears in the night. Sylvia engages to nurse the plague victims. Holmes drinks too heavily and, falling on the street, is picked up by a plague cart.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"He'll still swim, Larry," he said querulously.
Larry approached, pulling at his pipe. He growled a low oath, expressive of contempt and indifference.
"What odds?" he asked cynically. "He'll be cold enough for ever we come to Aldgate." And he laughed as he took the doublet Nick hung at him.
The next moment their filthy boots were in the garments they had left upon Holmes, and they had added him to the terrible load that already half-filled their cart.
They backed the vehicle out of the alley, and then rounded on, going eastward, their destination being the gate at Aldgate.
They were already approaching their destination, and the first light of dawn, pallid, cold, and colorless as "I told you the hairy-cove was warm, Larry."

"Aye! Well? And what now?" quoth the other querulously.
"Why, fling him out, o' course."
But Holmes was no longer in need of their assistance. Their words, and what he saw of that grim load of which he was a part made him realize at last his ghastly situation. He heaved himself clear, and struggled, gasping, to his knees. Thence he gripped the side of the cart, pulled himself to his feet, flung a leg over and leapt down, stumbling as he did so, and sprawling full length upon the ground.
By the time he had gathered himself up, the cart was already trundling on again, and the peals of hoarse, obscene laughter from the carters were ringing hideously through the silent street.
Mechanically he trudged on and on, aimlessly now, a man walking in a nightmare.
At last he paused, without knowledge or care of where he was; utterly bereft of strength, he sank presently into the shelter of the doorway of a deserted house, and there fell asleep.
When next he awakened, he was lying in the full glare of a sun that was already high in the heavens. He looked about him, and found himself in surroundings that were utterly strange to him, so that he could form no notion of whether he had strayed.
In mid-street stood a man in a steely hat dressed in black, leaning upon a red wand and regarding him attentively.
"What ails you?" the man asked him, seeing him awake and conscious. Disoriented, Holmes glared at him. "The sight of you," he snapped, and struggled stiffly up. "Naught else."
Yet, even as he gained his feet, a giddiness assailed him. He steadied himself a moment against the doorpost; then reeled and sank down again upon the step that had been his couch. For some few seconds he sat there benumbed, marveling at his condition. Then, acting on a sudden thought, he tore open the breast of his shirt.
"I lied!" he shouted wildly. When next he looked up, he was laughing, a ringing, exultant laugh. "I lied! There is something else. Look!" And he pulled his shirt wider open, so that the man might see what he had found. And that was the last thing that he remembered.
On his breast the flower of the plague had blossomed while he slept.

CHAPTER XXVII
The Pest-House.
There ensued for Colonel Holmes on some plane other than that of mundane life a period of fevered activity, of dread encounters and terrible combats of continual strife with a relentless opponent dressed in black and white satin who wore the countenance of His Grace of Buckingham and who was ever on the point of slaying him yet, being unmerciful, never slayed.
The fact is that Holmes lived in a world of delirium, hence, as last, he awakened one day to sanity—awakened to die, as he thought, when he had taken stock of his surroundings and realized them by the aid of memories he assembled of his last waking conscious hour.
He found himself lying on a pallet, near a window, through which he had a glimpse of foliage and of a strip of Indigo sky.
Fears gathered in his eyes, and rolled down his wasted cheeks.
Steps were softly approaching his bedside. Some one was leaning over him. He turned his head once more and looked up. And then a great fear look possession of him, so that for a moment his heart seemed to contract.

"NAY, RANDAL, YOU ARE AWARE AT LAST!"
Maud, he explained to himself that apparition.
At his bedside stood a woman, young and comely in the gray homespun, with the white hands and lips and hair that made up the garb of Puritans. Her face was small and pale, and oval, her eyes were long, of a color as blue and green, very widely now in their expression, and from under the wings of her coat escaped one or two heavy elegant curls, to be upon her white neck. A fine red head sought his own when it lay upon the carpet, a voice that was full of soft, sad music answered him.
"Now, Randall, you are awake at last, thank God!"
And now he saw that those long, wasted eyes were swim in tears.
"Where am I, then?" he asked, and his first words of bewilderment were answered.
"In the pest-house in Bunhill Fields," she told him, which only served to increase the confusion in his mind.
"What a place! I can understand that, I have the plague, I know, remembering being stricken with it, but now! How can you have me in a pest-house?"
"There was nowhere else for me to go, off I went, I left that house on Regent Street, and very properly, I suppose, the evening came."
"I have a cold, not more," he said, as she went on, but she said, "You are not a cold, you are a plague!"
"But you told me I was a cold!" he said, and she said, "You are a plague!"
"I have a cold, not more," he said, as she went on, but she said, "You are not a cold, you are a plague!"

Less Than 2 Cents Per Dollar of Sales

Swift & Company's average earnings in 1923 were less than two cents per dollar of sales.

We often compare our earnings with sales, in order to show what a slight effect the earnings have on prices of the products we handle.

The reason we can operate on such a small margin is that we do a large volume of business, and get a fairly rapid turnover.

In 1923 our sales were about eight times as great as the average stock of goods carried.

Our earnings in 1923 were less than 9 per cent on capital stock, and only about 6 per cent on the total investment that our 46,000 shareholders have in the business.

This and many other interesting facts are told in Swift & Company's 1924 Year Book.

A copy is yours, free, if you will send for it.

Mr. Frick Inspects Armory, Battery B.

Following a recent tour of inspection of the Ohio National Guard Armory, on Third street, where Battery B and the Columbus Train units have their headquarters, Manager Adam Frick, of the Chamber of Commerce, sent the following letter to Captain Theron Matthews, who is in charge of Battery B:

It might be of value to you in submitting to your superior officers the information which bears upon the local unit of service in this city. To this end, I just wanted to say that it was my pleasure to visit with the men at the local battery, and that these men took special care in having me go with them over the various units, with which they were in charge, and it is my pleasure to say that there is a marked improvement in this service, and in the attention that the property is receiving now over that of some time since.

The stable was in perfect order, the horses well taken care of, both as to nourishment and to attention. The supply rooms were, likewise, in the best of order, the equipment well sorted and ready for service. The guns and combat trains were all in place and very accessible. The quarters in which the men are kept, were in the very best sanitary condition, the office in perfect order and the rest room fully equipped with conveniences for the pleasure of these men.

The installation of the radio has brought to these servants a feature of entertainment that immediately appeals to them in behalf of those that are so constantly confined in a service of this nature.

In closing, it is my pleasure to give to you my very heartfelt appreciation for the service that yourself and these men are now rendering for the state and nation and commend you upon the high standard of this efficiency.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR DOHENY LEASE

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., March 18. —(By the A. P.)—The first day in the legal battle between the government of the United States and the Doheny interests over the Elk Hills Naval Reserve oil leases closed after two court sessions which resulted in the appointment of two receivers to preserve the status quo in the debated territory.

Rear Admiral Harry H. Rousseau was named at suggestion of Allen Pomeroy, government counsel, and J. C. Anderson, president of the Pan American Petroleum company, a defendant in the suit, was appointed by the court at the suggestion of Frederick R. Kellogg, general counsel for the oil company.

Mr. Pomeroy objected mildly to the appointment of a second receiver as "unnecessary", but agreed to waive his objection if the court thought it better to name Mr. Anderson.

At any rate the matter will be given a discussion from every angle and all the old Apple Show directors are urged to be on hand.

The Boxing Commission will hold an important meeting tonight in the Labor Review office. It is understood the Commission will ban all boxers who fail to keep in shape and give the patrons a run for their money. They were greatly disappointed in the condition of Eddie Grant last night, and one member stated that he would not have been permitted to box La Rue had he known Grant had been indifferent to training rules.

Senate Confirms Negro's Appointment

WASHINGTON, March 18. —(By The A. P.)—Reversing itself on two previous votes, the senate today ended a sixteen months' fight by confirming in executive session the nomination of Walter J. Cohen, negro, Republican leader of Louisiana, to be controller of customs for the New Orleans district. Thirty-nine senators voted today for confirmation and thirty-eight for rejection, a net switch of two votes from the poll of February 18, when the nomination was rejected, thirty-seven to thirty-five. One of the changes is known to have been made by Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, who moved for reconsideration; the other was in controversy today.

An Unusual Case
The record of the Cohen case was said to be almost unprecedented in senate annals. He was given a recess appointment November 4, 1922, and his name first sent to the senate by President Harding at the special session which began that month. The session expired without action on the nomination, however, and Cohen was given another recess appointment.

His name was sent in the second recess session, December 6, 1922, and rejected March 1, 1923. Another recess appointment again put him in office and President Coolidge sent the nomination for the third time last December 10, only to have it rejected February 13, last, by a scant two votes.

Cohen then offered to serve without pay and President Coolidge gave his approval. As a result of today's action, however, he will draw back pay from May 12, 1923, the date of his last appointment.

Mah Jongg "Rash" Is Discovered By Columbus Doctor

COLUMBUS, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—A new disease known as Mah Jongg "rash" has appeared in Columbus, according to Dr. Charles J. Shepard, skin specialist, resulting from the handling of the multi-shaded tiles of the Chinese game.

According to Dr. Shepard, the Chinese varnish used to finish the tile is made from a plant known as "Tutu Vernix", which is said to be similar to poison ivy. The hands become red, first, then blisters form. Dr. Shepard said, causing a burning and some itching. It requires about a week to cure, he said.

Woman Murdered As She Kneled In Prayer, States Husband, Confessing Guilt

PUEBLO, COL., March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Mrs. Bella Janssen, whose body was found in a trunk at Ogden, Utah, Saturday, was slain as she knelt in prayer, Fred Janssen, her husband, told the Pueblo police here today. Janssen admitted he had hired a Mexican to kill her.

Janssen was arrested at Eden, Col., near here early this afternoon. He was riding toward Pueblo in a taxi, he had just in Colorado Springs this morning.

Janssen said he remained in an adjoining room while the Mexican killed his wife.

His wife's body was found by special agents for the Union Pacific Railway at Ogden, Utah, who forced open the trunk, after an express messenger had reported that blood was trickling from it.

The trunk was checked from Denver last Friday for Weed, California. The body was clad only in underwear, a kimono and a pair of house slippers. It had been tied in place in the trunk by pieces of rope and had been covered with a rug carpet.

Women Need Swamp-Root

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Daugherty Charges Roxie Stinson Attempted to Blackmail Him

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Attorney General Daugherty notified the senate committee investigating him today that he expected to prove that Roxie Stinson, one of the star witnesses in the inquiry, had shown a willingness "to sell" documentary evidence in her possession and her silence for $150,000.

Witnesses whose appearance he has requested, Mr. Daugherty said, would testify that such negotiations were entered into in Cleveland on February 21, last, by Miss Stinson and a companion, A. L. Fink, of Buffalo. They would testify further, he said, that later the price was reduced to $50,000, but that the friends of the attorney general who were approached on the subject refused to pay her "anything for the alleged evidence."

The attorney general's announcement was made in this letter to Chairman Brookhart of the investigating committee:

"Mr. Chairman, gentlemen of the committee:

"We some time ago requested the issuance of subpoenas for James W. Holcomb, 9400 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, Ohio; Samuel Ungelder, Leader-News Building, Cleveland, Ohio; Henry T. Ellis, Cleveland, Ohio, and M. S. Daugherty, Washington Court House, Ohio.

"The above named witnesses would not purchase for the attorney general this evidence for $150,000. Fink and Roxie Stinson were going to New York to sell said evidence to other persons.

"The above witnesses were in conference with the said Fink, acting as such agent for the said Roxie Stinson, for several hours. The said Fink was

Your committee advised us that a statement of what we expected to prove by our witnesses must accompany the request for subpoenas.

Go To Cleveland

"Complying with that rule, we allege on information and belief that said witnesses if called, will testify that on the 21st day of February, 1924, Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess W. Smith, deceased, and A. L. Fink, of Buffalo, N. Y., were in Cleveland and had a conference with the above named witnesses; that on the 18th day of February, 1924, Roxie Stinson and A. L. Fink, registered at the Hamilton Hotel, in Cleveland, Ohio, under the name of A. L. French and wife; that they occupied room 456 in said hotel; that in the next morning they paid their bill and departed from the Hamilton Hotel, Roxie Stinson going to the Statler in Cleveland, and A. L. Fink going to the Cleveland Hotel in Cleveland; and on the 21st day of February, 1924, in a conference with the above named witnesses, A. L. Fink acting as agent for Roxie Stinson, represented to the above witnesses that the said Roxie Stinson was at the Statler Hotel and had letters and documentary evidence which would be greatly embarrassing to H. M. Daugherty if given to the public at this time; that the said Roxie Stinson was ready and willing to sell said documentary evidence and her silence to the attorney general for $150,000 and would deliver said documents to the above named witnesses and leave the country so that they could not be subpoenaed to testify in any investigation that might be had of the department of justice at Washington.

Would Sell To Others

"That if the above named witnesses would not purchase for the attorney general this evidence for $150,000, Fink and Roxie Stinson were going to New York to sell said evidence to other persons.

"The above witnesses were in conference with the said Fink, acting as such agent for the said Roxie Stinson, for several hours. The said Fink was

Doctors' Views On The Best Purgative

Most purgatives are not thorough, and besides irritate the intestines, according to physicians. They affect only the upper bowel but do not help the lower bowel, which is often causing the trouble.

To many people—especially children—oral cathartics are so nauseating that they refuse to take it. But if easier and completely free of the impurities, which causes the unpleasant taste and odor—as has now been perfected in the new Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil—it is, physicians agree, the ideal purgative.

For it not only thoroughly cleanses the entire bowels as no other purgative does, but also neutralizes the intestinal poisons that cause auto-intoxication, headache and that tired feeling not to mention complexion blemishes. Furthermore, it does not irritate but actually heals irritation, making it especially useful for infants and children in diarrhea and colic. In the new form it is as easy to swallow as water, so that the most unreasonable child takes it willingly.

You can get a sample bottle free by writing to Walter Janvier, 417 Canal Street, New York and sending in cents to cover packing and postage. But you take no risk in getting a regular size bottle direct from the druggist. Your money instantly refunded if not pleased.

Kellogg's is sold and guaranteed by all good drug stores everywhere.—Advertisement.

Oil Men Ready For Big Annual Oklahoma Sale

TULSA, OKLA., March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Oil men from all over the United States were here today ready to go to Pawhuska tomorrow morning for the annual lease sale. The lease sale at which more than 100,000 acres of Indian lands are to be leased for oil drilling.

The auction is one of the most colorful incidents in the oil business.

Because much of the land is near the Barabank Field, which is one of the leading producers in Oklahoma, oil men say bidding will be brisk. The highest price ever paid for a lease in the lease sale is $1,000,000, which the Gypsy Oil Company last year paid for a 160-acre tract.

The oil men's train will have on board more than $1,000,000 in cash, as the department of the interior, under the direction of which the lease sale is held, demands 25 per cent in cash on each lease purchased.

Single-Term Advocates Beaten

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Senate advocates of a one term for presidents received a double defeat in that body today.

A resolution by Senator Willis, Ohio, that future chief executives be limited to a single term of four years was defeated seventy to four and an effort by Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, to make the term six, was lost later forty-five to ten.

The resolutions were offered as amendments to a joint resolution by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, proposing a constitutional amendment which would eliminate "short sessions" of congress by convening that body in January after elections.

Several senators opposing the one term proposal explained they did so to prevent that issue being confused with the purpose of Senator Norris' resolution and indicated they might support the plans of either Senator Harris or Senator Willis under different circumstances.

Other opponents, however, such as Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, and Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, declared the limitation upon the president's term would be an error unless the terms of senators and representatives also were altered.

MEDAL ARRIVES AFTER HERO DIES

Frank Webb of this city who won a Belgian Croix De Guerre for bravery while fighting with the 3rd Infantry in France, died in an Ironton hospital and is buried in the Ironton cemetery.

Webb was a member of Co. K, 3rd Infantry, and was killed in action on April 11, 1918, while fighting in the Argonne forest. He was the only member of his company to be killed in action.

His mother, Mrs. Webb, lives near South Point, Lawrence county. The mother and a young brother, Homer Webb, visited at the home of Mrs. Whitaker Sunday and for the first time learned that the Belgian government was making an effort to locate Webb or his relatives.

Webb was presented with a French war cross before he returned home from overseas. The Belgian war medal will now go to his mother.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

We are born crying, live complaining and die disappointed.

It is altogether in vain to learn wisdom and yet live foolishly.

Learn some useful art that you may be independent of the caprice of fortune.

Broad thoughts may be cut from other men's leather.

The learned cate ducks to the golden fool.

Lend to one who will not repay and you will provoke his dislike.

Who wants an enemy, let him lend some money.

They have a short lent that owe money to be repaid at Easter.

Let him not complain of being cheated who buys cloth by the pattern.

Let me get over the lake, I have no fear of the brook.

Let there be writing before you say and receipt before you write.

Letters without virtue are like pearls in a dunghill.

Liberty may be endangered by the abuse of liberty as well as by the abuse of power.

A life without a friend is like a life without a sun.

All wish to live long, but not to be called old.

He that is not gallant at twenty, strong at thirty, rich at forty and experienced at fifty, will never live to be gallant or strong or rich or prudent.

The web of your life is of a mingled yarn, good and ill together.

An honorable death is better than a disgraceful life.

The fire proves gold, adversity strong men.

To master one's self is the greatest mastery.

It is right that you should acquire when what you ask is fair.

More men die of drink than of thirst.

Name not a rope in his house that hangs himself.

No man has a velvet cross.

There's no worse thief than a bad book.

No one knows where the shoe pinched but he who wears it.

None is a fool always, everyone sometimes.

No one was ever ruined by speaking the truth.

No sunshine but hath some shadow.

No tale so good but may be spoiled in the telling.

He that will thrive may lie till five; he that hath thriven may lie till seven.

He was scant of news who told that his father was hanged.

It is the nature of a man to err of a fool to persevere in his error.

GREENUP, Ky., March 18.—(Special to The Times)—Residents of Flatwood and Clinchville, close to Russell, are against Russell's plan of making them a part of that growing incorporation. The council of Russell recently passed an ordinance extending the corporate limits to take in Flatwood and Clinchville and other surrounding territory. Taxpayers in this "wanted territory" think differently than the councilmen and will carry their fight to the courts, they aver. They have employed Attorney E. E. Fullerton to file a petition in court here setting aside the legislation passed by the Russell council.

More Than 100 Voices In Chorus

The Community Chorus met last night at the library for its weekly rehearsal in preparation for the spring concert to be given here in conjunction with the Ironton chorus. There are 50 voices in the Ironton chorus and 65 in the Portsmouth aggregation which means that Portsmouth will have the opportunity of hearing a chorus of more than 100 voices when the concert is given on May 6. But six rehearsals remain before the concert must be ready to present to the public and Professor Elmer Eide, director of both choruses, is working hard to achieve a perfection of finish before the choruses make their public appearance. Numbers to be sung by the two choruses include Schubert's "Umnipotence" and Grieg's "Land-Sighting."

Before adjourning until 10 o'clock tomorrow, the committee heard from the committee on the Doherty case, which told a story of how he alleged, the department of justice knew all about certain liberties and was failing to prosecute and suppress them.

For later appearance the committee subpoenaed Secretaries Mellon and Weeks, to inquire into the machinery of communicating confidential information by the two departments. Some other notables also were subpoenaed in today's list.

Tells Of Film Deal

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—William A. Orr, former secretary to ex-Governor Whitman, one of the parties to the film deal, was the first witness today in the Doherty investigation.

Orr said he was sure because G. O. Hordridge, a former department of justice agent, yesterday's witness, had classed everybody connected with the film "deal" as a "crook".

He denied that he (Orr) represented the late Jess W. Smith in the "deal". He denied that Smith had any interest in the picture.

Orr testified he owned 20 per cent of the picture contract in return for his "services." Tex Rickard asked for his help in getting the film shown, as Rickard knew of Orr's previous attempts to get films past the New York State censors, and also of his political connections, his part to help overcome difficulties of censorship and also in publicity.

It was announced during Orr's testimony that the committee had issued subpoenas for fifteen witnesses today, including Secretaries Mellon and Weeks.

Others for whom subpoenas were issued were Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair, Prohibition Commissioner Hayes and H. H. Votaw, superintendent of prisons, and a relative of the late President Harding.

Orr told of knowing Daugherty, Lyon and others named in the film case. He had been associated with Mr. Daugherty and Jess Smith during the Harding campaign in Ohio. He frequently visited Mr. Daugherty here, he said, and had met Howard Mannington at the "little green house on K Street."

He had never met President Harding and had not attended the exhibition of the film picture here in Washington as testified by Means.

Orr said he had never met Daugherty in the "little green house on K Street," repudiating a statement that he had met him there.

Orr said he had been paid in the neighborhood of $4,500, in the film deal.

but denied having talked with Jess Smith, "about films or about money."

"Did you talk over the possibility that the pictures would be confiscated?" asked Senator Jones.

"Something was said to the effect that confiscation wouldn't be possible."

"You and Muma and the Martin were together?" Chairman Brookhart put in.

"That's one of the things you listened to, that isn't true," Orr replied. "Martin was a real person, too."

Hordridge had testified that "Martin" was a dummy, really Muma himself.

"Did you ever meet Daugherty at the 'little green house on K Street'?"

"Yes."

"And you met President Harding there?"

"I never did in my life."

"But you did meet Daugherty and Mannington there?"

"I never did meet Daugherty there."

The discrepancy was seized instantly.

"Which time did you tell the truth?" demanded Senator Ashurst.

Orr, to correct the record, said he had never met Daugherty at the K Street house, but had seen Daugherty and Smith together on occasions.

His contact with Quimby, Orr said, was made after he had arranged with the New York film commission that the pictures would not be interfered with if shown prior to August 1, 1921, when the censorship law became effective.

Orr said he had worked to secure Colonel William Hayward's appointment as United States district attorney at New York.

Senator Wheeler took Orr again to the account of his New York meetings with Smith and Daugherty.

"You met Smith before the Dempsey-Carpentier fight?"

Daugherty introduced Mannington.

"I can't be sure."

"Who introduced you to Mannington?"

"I presume it was Mr. Daugherty. Do you want a list of everybody I happened to see at Mr. Daugherty's house?" Orr broke out.

"Yes."

"There was Will Hays and Carmi Thompson and Colonel Hayward—that's the United States attorney at New York. I recommended him."

"You went out and got recommendations from a lot of people and came down and saw Attorney General Daugherty to get Hayward appointed?"

"Yes."

"Daugherty promised you Hayward would receive the appointment?"

"Mr. Daugherty said to bring him over—that he would see what he could do."

Senator Wheeler led the witness through accounts of breakfasts at the Daugherty-Smith apartment.

With Mannington, Orr said he had discussed liquor matters, but not permits for withdrawals.

"Mannington helped you to line up

Harry J." on the Hayward appointment, Senator Wheeler proceeded.

Discussing Volstead Regulations

Orr did admit discussions regarding matters relating to the Volstead Act.

Turned Over Money To Mannington

"I have turned over money on some occasions (to Mannington) in connection with liquor affairs, said Orr, but he professed inability to recall details.

"In most cases it was to prevent going into court," Orr continued. "To avoid litigation, appearing before the departments, etc."

Orr admitted that some departments had made "demands" on him for return of "money they thought was coming to them," in connection with whiskey deals.

"Did you ever enter into understanding or agreement with Mannington as to withdrawal permits for whiskey?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"I should say yes to that," Orr returned. "My talks with him were about the state after withdrawal."

Orr said he had turned over money to Mannington on many occasions, but he did not recall the details of these transactions.

Orr said he knew Thomas B. Feller, attorney and co-defendant with Gaston B. Means, in indictments now pending and had talked with Feller regarding repayment of money by claimants representing several drug companies.

The repayments were demanded because the cases were not "successfully" handled, Orr said.

"The things he was trying to do," Orr continued, all came under the treasury department and not justice."

"You've collected money in New York on whiskey deals?"

"No sir."

"Did you ever pay Mannington any money?"

"I turned over some money to him in connection with liquor affairs. I can't tell you all these details."

Forced To Pay Same Money Back

"Didn't some people make Mannington pay back some of the money on whiskey deals?"

Orr balked.

"Didn't some people make you pay back—put a mortgage on your house?"

"There were some claims."

Orr objected to testifying regarding "whiskey deals" and any affairs not relating to investigation of the department of justice under the scope of the present resolution.

Senator Reed replied by shooting another question at him.

"Didn't you say that $11,000 fruit and large shade trees, good spring of water, Price $2500.00

"No."

Orr admitted he had talked with Feller about repaying money.

"Do you mean to tell me you don't know the other man who was with Feller when the money was demanded?"

"There were representatives of drug companies."

"Tell us about any one of these whiskey deals," Senator Jones put in, and why money had to be paid back."

Orr said he was not brought here for that.

"I'm here to answer anything about the inquiry, that's in the resolution," he said.

"Now who put that idea in your head?"

"Nobody—I read the resolution."

The examination took here for a while.

Going different times he had turned over money to Mannington, Orr said it once was $2,500, and again $1,500. Some times it was a contingent fee, the witness explained.

Orr insisted he had not "gotten a cent" in these transactions.

"In the aggregate you turned over something like $200,000?" asked Senator Wheeler.

That was denied by Orr, who said he could not recall the total.

Orr protests on questioning

Orr protested the committee was probing "a chapter of my past, that had been before the United States courts."

"I submit to the committee that this man is trying to bulldoze us," Senator Wheeler broke in, and that "his job is to answer questions."

Orr offered to give his best recollection on the sums of money.

"Off-hand now, I can definitely think of an aggregate of $40,000," said he.

Senator Wheeler asked if Mannington had not returned over $40,000 to clients, but Orr said:

"Not to my recollection."

"Don't you know that Jess Smith refused to turn back some of the money given to him?" asked Senator Wheeler.

Orr disclaimed knowledge.

Feller told him, Orr said, that Mannington had returned $10,000 or $12,000 to clients.

Orr denied, asking a man named Rice, how he (Orr) could recover money from Jess Smith's estate that he (Orr) thought due him.

Orr said Rice came to him and talked of "such a proposition," but Orr insisted he did not make any claims.

Presses About Refunds

Senator Jones pressed Orr about refunds.

"Answer the question," he demanded. "It's a question between people and their lawyer," they said, "they'd advance a fee, and hadn't got the work, and he had to pay it back."

The "fee" was apparently Mannington.

The "people" Orr indicated as he went on had expected to get permits for exportation of whiskey from the United States.

"What did you get?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Not a cent."

"In the aggregate you turned over $200,000?" Persisted Senator Wheeler.

"No, all I can think of now is $40,000."

"You can't crowd me into anything. It's like your estimate of a million dollars on the picture when I got $4,500."

"Didn't Mannington turn over $40,000?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"These people you sent to him, they turned over $4,500?"

"I don't know."

"I don't know it's a fact that Jess Smith refused to turn back his share?"

"I don't know that Jess Smith got any money or that he turned any back."

Orr had been told by Feller he said, that Mannington paid back $1,000 or $1,200."

Slump

C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law, visited him at Cleveland.

"What did Chase say?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I did most of the talking," the witness said, "I said I had not made the loan, and I could not say that I had done so."

McKinney said he had known Fall many years and had had some business dealings with him. He added that he was not interested in oil lands.

The witness was on the stand less than fifteen minutes. He was followed by Henry Woodhouse, of New York, who was questioned about his published charges that the Doherty interests had agreed to sell much of the California naval oil reserve output to British interests.

Woodhouse said he had owned one-sixth of the Chester oil concession in Turkey.

Launching into a long recital, the witness said Doherty had organized in 1919 in company with British oil and steamship interests, the British-Mexican Petroleum Company, which under a contract was to have first call on the Doherty oil output both in the United States and Mexico.

Woodhouse was on the stand half an hour and at the conclusion of his statement, that committee adjourned, until tomorrow.

Senator Curtis, who is the assistant Republican leader of the senate, was said by the witness to have bought 100 shares of Sinclair Consolidated on February 23, 1922. The records indicate it was a "straight purchase."

Senator Elkins bought 5,700 shares of Sinclair Consolidated on November 16, 1922, at a cost of $302,355. He sold 7,700 shares on May 24, 1923, at $272,924 and took "straight delivery" on the remaining 1,000 shares.

Bond told the committee that Slump bought 100 shares of Mexican Petroleum for "P. W. Slump," and sold them at a net profit of $531. He then bought on June 23, 1922, 1,000 shares of Mexican Petroleum, another Sinclair Company, and sold at a profit of $1,484.33.

Representative Ryan, the witness said, dealt in 5,400 shares of Sinclair stock and 700 shares of Doherty stock in 1922 and 1923, and realized a net profit of $8,845.

Representative Rouse, according to Bond's reports, bought 100 shares of Pan-American Petroleum at $8,715 and there was no record of any sale.

Representative Goodkowitz was shown to have made a net profit of $256 in Sinclair Consolidated and Mexican Petroleum.

Representatives Himes bought and sold to the extent of 3,500 shares of oil stock, but Bond's report did not show whether there was a loss or gain.

The Sinclair Trapot Dome lease was signed April 7, 1922, and the Doherty-California lease December 11, 1922.

Inspector Issues Warning

Auto Inspector E. L. Pratt is busy checking up on all automobiles in the city and he insists that any violations will result in arrests. He says a number of machines are being driven with only one plate displayed, the misuses of dealer's plates and tags of 1923 are being used. These infractions are punishable, he says, by stiff fines and his mission to the city is to see that these laws are strictly adhered to. Mr. Pratt says he intends to start a round-up of the drivers and owners here who are violating automobile laws.

Bostwick Is Fined Costs

Frank Bostwick, 112 Waller street, who pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in Municipal court yesterday in connection with a fight with A. W. Zell, Kricker building, on the night of March 12, was let off upon payment of the costs because Judge Sprague thought he had been sufficiently punished and a similar complaint against Zell was dismissed by reason of a showing that he was not to blame for the altercation. During the encounter, which was over a woman, Bostwick was seriously slashed in the leg with a knife.

Diener Is Fined $200

Ben Diener, 1145 Tenth street, was found guilty of possession of liquor at a hearing in Municipal court Tuesday afternoon and Judge Sprague passed him a fine of $200 and costs. Diener's arrest grew out of the finding of a jar partly filled with "moon" in a back room of his restaurant and soft drink establishment at the Tenth street address by the police in a raid last Saturday night.

Sell Portsmouth To Portsmouth People

"Sell Portsmouth to Portsmouth People" so runs the slogan blazoned on a gigantic sign which attracted attention of passersby on Gallia street between Chillicothe and Gay this morning. At present the club is "selling" Portsmouth the idea of profiting the school children by means of the A B C campaign.

FRANKIE SUSNELL STOPS BENNY LEVY; GENE LARUE WINS EASILY FROM EDDIE GRANT

Boxing Fans Enjoy
A Real Glove Feast

THE RESULTS
Susnell won in 5th round, knocking out Levy in 3rd round.
Bailey and Parker fought 8 rounds to a draw.
Hickman scored technical knockout over Brownie in 3rd round.
Wise won decision over Hogan in 4 rounds.

Results in the two main-go bouts on the card offered by the River City Athletic Club last night in Roseland, won by Frankie Susnell many additional fans while Eddie Grant, who has been going like a house afire, lost considerably prestige.
Susnell's victory over Benny Levy, St. Louis, was a real knockout route, and the fans like to see. On the other hand, Grant failed to show his usual ability and fell an easy prey to Gene Larue who holds the flyweight championship of Canada. This was that he was up against a clever fighter in La Rue but at that he should have made a much better showing of his training and his usual pen, and in the first round Larue had things his own way.

The real milling of the entire card was furnished by the semi-final boys, Billy Parker of Dayton, and Bill Bailey of Middletown. They fought eight rounds and the final decision was a draw.
Frankie Susnell announced his fight at 116, while Levy was said to weigh a half pound more. It was in the fifth round that Susnell put Levy down for the count of ten and then he won the St. Louis product to his corner. From the minute both had landed in the center of the ring, the two men were in a real battle, each one trying to get the other down. The fight was scheduled for ten rounds but the manager of the fight, who was in the ring, found it was plain to be seen that it would not go the limit. Both were quick as they make 'em and will be to swap punches when the other would lead.

Piercing Starts
In the first round only a few blows were exchanged, but in the second the fireworks started. In the second the blows of the fighters met when Levy came off the ropes and a few seconds later Susnell opened up an old cut by the side of Levy's left eye. During the remainder of the scrap Susnell kept the cut open and Levy lost considerable of the red fluid. Susnell landed rapidly on his opponent in the third and fourth rounds and in the fifth round, when Levy was in the full swing of his attack, Susnell came down on his opponent and landed two hard punches to the solar plexus and one to the face. Susnell landed a mean wallop in his right and caused Levy to feel it more than once.

In the second main go the fans expected much of Eddie Grant, who had been making a fine showing here before. They were sadly disappointed when they saw their favorite backing away and dodging as Larue started for him. There was not much doing in the mixing line in the opening minutes but in the second round Larue did not waste any more time and went right after Grant. Eddie had the reach on his opponent but Larue was clever and easily kept in the corner. Grant succeeded in landing a couple of good blows during the first round but they were a mere nothing compared to the punishment handed out by Larue, who would drive Grant back to his corner and then pound him. Eddie made feeble efforts to get up his head and face. Larue had finished Grant earlier but he did not let the local boy and delayed the knockout punch. At one time he was in the corner, held his head against with his left and right hands, but he backed away and gave Larue a chance. A few seconds later Larue landed a hard blow on the head and his seconds tossed a towel into the ring.

The Parker-Bailey affair was a handsome morsel for the big crowd that crowded Roseland. Both men were toe to toe and had their lungs within reach of the gloves all the time. At times Parker seemed to be the better of the argument, landing two face and head blows, while Bailey would count once with his toe to the body. Both had a jab that proved ineffective, but counted for points. In the final round Parker took his best to land a long, sweeping blow, with the result that he missed.

Parker and Bailey had met before.

Team To Organize

Plans for the coming season were discussed by members of the Indiana State basketball team at a meeting held last night at the home of Homer Frederick on Seloto Trail. It was announced that some new talent has been added to the lineup and with all the star performers of last year's outfit back, Manager Ray Keyser claims that he will put an aggregation on the field which will be able to compete with the best clubs in this section for diamond honors. The team, which is composed principally of young players, hung up a most creditable record last year, emerging the victors in a big majority of their battles and with their lineup strengthened the young athletes hope to do even better this year.

Will Not Divide

Ohio Conference

COLUMBUS, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—Two plans proposed to divide the Ohio conference into two divisions, were overwhelmingly defeated at a meeting of Ohio conference managers here today.
One plan provided that the larger schools of the state be incorporated into one division and the smaller schools into another while the other proposition was that a geographical line be drawn from east to west placing all schools north of it in one division and those south in another.

Just Gossip

La Rue looked to be in the proverbial pink of condition. He is a real fighter and a clever little fellow. He is married and has a year old child.

Grant's friends were sorely disappointed over his showing. They looked upon him as a sure winner.

Frankie Susnell looks better every time out. A real fighter, this boy.

Benny Levy's left eye was so badly cut the result of being butted that he had to have it clamped. He looked good for three rounds, but Susnell is too clever for him.

By the way Frankie and Benny sold newspapers together a few years ago in Canton. You could never tell it the way they went after each other last night.

La Rue had an incentive in addition to a punch when he entered the ring last night. If he trimmed Grant he was promised a bout with Johnnie Buff, one of the best bantams in the East.

La Rue won many friends by his flashy work and will be welcome back by the fans.

Susnell looked to be in wonderful shape despite the fact that he works every day in the steel plant.

It was a hilarious crowd and the fans had much to root about.

Mat Matches Follow

Floor Tilt in Peebles

At Peebles last Saturday Joe Arnold's Prudentials took the Beaver Selects in tow on the basketball floor, the home quintet winning by a score of 32 to 21. It was one of the fastest contests of the season.
At the conclusion of the game the fans were treated to a wrestling match between Lamar Hammerstein, visiting coach and crack wrestler of Eastern Ohio, and Floyd Peterson, of Peebles, who was on the Ohio State team last year.
Peterson won the bout by taking the first fall in 12 minutes and the third in 25 minutes, the second fall going to Hammerstein in 45 minutes.
Manager Arnold would like to hear from some real good basketball team desiring to "back" his "Prudentials" and that would match either two wrestlers that he has, one at 140 and the other at 160, either at Peebles or abroad.

Team To Organize

Plans for the coming season were discussed by members of the Indiana State basketball team at a meeting held last night at the home of Homer Frederick on Seloto Trail. It was announced that some new talent has been added to the lineup and with all the star performers of last year's outfit back, Manager Ray Keyser claims that he will put an aggregation on the field which will be able to compete with the best clubs in this section for diamond honors. The team, which is composed principally of young players, hung up a most creditable record last year, emerging the victors in a big majority of their battles and with their lineup strengthened the young athletes hope to do even better this year.

Another meeting will be held at the same place Wednesday evening when organization will be perfected and other matters connected with the club plans will be considered. Every member of the team is urged to be present. The results will have their first practice session Saturday afternoon.

TICKING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even tickling eczema, can be quickly cured by applying a little Mentho-
Sulphur, a noted skin specialist.
Because of its germ destroying property, this sulphur preparation instantly keeps the skin clear, soothes and heals the eczema right up and keeps the skin clear and smooth.
Sulphur fails to relieve the torment and discomfort. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles'
Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist.
It is like a cold cream.—Adver-

HOW FLEETING IS FAME

IN more than 400 years of this country's history but two Americans have attained an eminence wherein the anniversaries of their births have to any extent become holidays, and even these are observed only in a limited way and not at all in keeping with the celebration of the Fourth of July. The natal day of others may at times have a much restricted observance, but aside from Washington and Lincoln there is no cessation from ordinary occupations in honor of the events.

As a people, Americans are sparing in giving time to recounting what others have wrought. Perhaps we are too busy with the living to stop to reflect on the deeds of those who have passed away, though there is much to be learned from the lives of those who became conspicuous because of the positions they filled. One who attains the presidency is supposed to have secured fame, but that fame is fleeting as are all things earthly. Aside from the two presidents mentioned but few could name the birthdays of any of the others. Today is the anniversary of the birth of Grover Cleveland, yet it is passing unnoticed.

Upwards of 40 years ago Grover Cleveland became the first Democratic president following the Civil War. There was great rejoicing on the part of his supporters. It may be said that he acquitted himself well and upheld the doctrines of that party. He was honest, too much so for his party, which later deserted him for the free silver fallacy.

But Grover Cleveland's birthday is unobserved by the party he led to victory. He is forgotten by those who once hailed him as chief. They go back to Andrew Jackson or Thomas Jefferson when they seek a patron saint. Grover Cleveland filled a worthy place, but those who might be expected to revere his memory have forgotten him. The lesson of the instance lies in that fame is evanescent, that few are great enough to remain long in men's minds after they pass away.

GRADE CROSSINGS

IN connection with the American Railway Association's new campaign to reduce the number of accidents at grade crossings the familiar demand for the abolition of the "death traps" is again heard. Theoretically there should be no crossings of railroad tracks at grade in this country. There are very few in England and some continental countries. Practically their abolition here would be a tremendous task. Many estimates of the cost have been made, running into the billions. The expense to the railroads, if they were to bear the total burden, would be prohibitive. According to one way of figuring, the public would have to foot the bill in the long run, anyway, in the shape of the necessarily increased charges for service.

Some light on this phase of the subject is thrown by an official investigation in New York. The Public Service Commission says there are 4,000 grade crossings in the state that ought to be eliminated. The expense is put at $100,000 each, or a total bill of $400,000,000. The present law provides that for such work the state and the local community shall each pay one-fourth and the railroad one-half. In a message to the legislature Gov. Smith suggests that state bonds be issued for the purpose and that when grade crossings are eliminated the railroads and local communities contribute proportionately to meet the interest and sinking fund charges. The money could be obtained at a low rate of interest because the securities would be tax-exempt.

An amendment to the state constitution would be necessary. It would authorize the state not only to lend its credit for this undertaking, but to compel the railroads to obey orders to abolish grade crossings. Certainly some such comprehensive plan of official co-operation with the railroads is necessary if the grade crossing menace is to be removed.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTIRE

NEW YORK, March 18.—Down in Chatham Square after dusk there is a gathering of the offshoots of a Bowery world. They represent New York's economic burden—men who have perhaps tried and failed and become chronic drifters.

Their problem is to grub for enough money to keep them comfortably mellow with "Bowery smoke"—the illicit hooch that sells for 15 cents a swig. The hawkers carry the bottles on their hips and uncork them in doorways for customers. Chatham Square is hard by Chinatown. From the square the narrow twisting streets of Moit, Pell and Bowers lead to the underground passages where shuffling figures move about in the phantasmagoria of opium.

There has been a sting to winter for the down and out chips washed upon the Bowery sands. There are no saloon back rooms "tops" any more and with municipal lodging houses filled they must walk the streets or shiver in hallways.

Chatham Square is one spot where the police do not resort to the keep moving order for pedestrians. So the tattered denizens cluster together like sheep and build bonfires along the curb. They also make the hobo's piece de resistance—Mulligan stew in tin cans.

Here are many men who once lived respectably, but through drink or bad luck became wandering members of the submerged tenth. The Bowery has many doctors, lawyers, and other professional men who have been hopelessly beaten by life.

They will beg, but few are thieves. Work has long since become distasteful. The Bowery claims them because it is the one place where no one inquires about the past. It is the place where men forget.

A subway observer has discovered men are more vain than women. The men primp more before slot machine mirrors than women do. He took count of 100 that appeared before a mirror in the Times Square station. Seventy-three were men.

The taxi starter in front of one of the smartest New York hotels pays $75 a month for the privilege of holding down his job with a taxi-cab company. He depends solely upon tips and makes about $100 a week above the amount he pays for his concession.

Education is certainly grand. One day the New York newspapers printed:

Doc Koko's KOLUM

By Elsie Bludworth Davis.

I exist thru the day, but to live in the twilight

With the memories that love me and the dreams that I live in

Reflecting the sky in its last tints of glory

My soul floating free in a faery mood.

Refreshing, cool, quiet, with your mantle of shadow

You soften all nature into one fairy scene

May the twilight of life be as peacefully welcome

And the close of my day as lovely a dream.

What She Was Playing

Woe Marie appeared before her visiting uncle smeared with flour.

"What, did you fall?" he exclaimed, "is today baking day?"

"No," piped the offended little flapper, "I'm playin' dressed-up lady."

How Jimmy Applied It.

Three-year-old Jimmy's mother used a rather absurd expression when things went contrary. Of course Jimmy added it to his vocabulary with the amusing result:

A corpulent lady stepped upon an icy place on the sidewalk and immediately sat upon it (the sidewalk).

"Oh, did you fall?" cried Jimmy, who witnessed the mishap, "did it hurt you?"

"I'm a bit shaken, little boy," answered the lady, having regained her feet.

"Oh, well," consoled Jimmy, "such is life where angels fear to tread."

Robert had never seen gold-filled teeth until his aunt Margaret came to visit his family.

He admired her teeth very much and expressed his admiration by saying: "Mother, when I get big may I have copper-tooth teeth like auntie's?"

The Patrick's Day Parade

By S. V. Lewis.

Little Mamie Moroney, with eyes of puny blue,

Donned a green hair-ribbon, pinned on a shamrock, too;

Said Uncle Pat, "Sure, Mamie, you're appropriately arrayed;

To walk with me and see the great St. Patrick's Day parade."

And Old Maid
"Seney," advised her aunt Dinah. "You is a mighty likely midget. You orto git mabbed."
"Who, me?" exclaimed Seney with a scornful toss of her head. "Me git mabbed? I see got one white chile and one black chile. What I wantor git mabbed foh? I see gwine ter be er ole maid, I is."

Convinced
Ruh: "How do you know she does n't beg?"
Duh: "I heard her."

The Burst Suite
Teacher: (laughing out loud in school.)

Teacher: How dare you, Tom?

Tom: Why, I looked at Bill's black eye and smiled and smiled 'til it bursted.

A Sweet Retort
(New York Sun and Globe.)

Acad Pedestrian—You young minx! Why didn't you trot your horn when you saw me in the middle of the road?

Flapperette—Oh, I thought it would be more merciful if you didn't know what struck you. Good-bye.

Enthusiasm of The Novice
(Washington Star.)

"He says he has never been engaged before," said the sentimental girl, "and he spent his last dollar for the engagement ring."

"Believe him," answered Miss Cynic. "When a man spends his last dollar for an engagement ring it's a pretty sure sign it's his first experience."

Twenty-Four Years Ago

The Star Brick Company, of Scottdale, Ga., increased wages of employees 10

"Buddy" Molster and "Dusty" Burnshine resigned their positions at the Burgess mill and departed for Birmingham, Ala., to accept employment.

Mrs. Margaret Freeman, one of the pioneers of Oklawaha, died at her home there at the age of 85 years.

John E. Fischer, of the Chillicothe pike, died at his home there. He was 25 years old and heart disease caused his demise.

Looked like a goner, but is now strong and well.

"In November, 1918, my son had just gotten over the flu and double pneumonia, and it looked as if he would never be a well boy again. His lungs were very weak and he had an awful cough. He had had pneumonia four times. This had taken all of his vitality and left his lungs in a very bad shape."

"I saw Milks Emulsion advertised in the Birmingham News, and a large bottle and gave it to my son. It did him so much good that I kept on giving him Milks Emulsion until he had taken 125 bottles, and now I am very proud to tell you that my boy is a well strong young man, 18 years old, and in excellent health. I give Milks Emulsion the credit for having saved his life."
